Learning to live with COVID-19.

The risk of getting COVID-19 is now part of our daily lives, and will remain so for the foreseeable future.

We are all vulnerable to this virus and some people, particularly those over 70 and the medically vulnerable, are at greater risk of becoming severely ill.

These guidelines are designed to help you make decisions to minimise this risk as we learn to live with the virus.

If you have any symptoms, stay at home and immediately call your GP.

Risk factors for getting COVID-19

Distance – The risk of getting COVID-19 increases as the distance between you and others gets smaller. Keep 2 metres apart where possible.

Activity – How you spend time with people and what you do with them can increase your risk. Follow the advice in this booklet when spending time with others.

Time – The more time you spend in close contact with other people can increase your risk of getting COVID-19. Keep track of who you spend time with and how.

Environment – Being outdoors is safer than being indoors. Where possible meet with others outdoors. If this is not possible, keep windows and doors open when meeting others inside.

Know about the disease – Check the virus like you check the weather. Know if COVID-19 is in your community and how it is spreading. Regularly check gov.ie/covid19dashboard.
